

London Based Graphic Designer

CV

From being immersed within the design industry for 10 years, and with first-hand experience of both agency-based and on-site teams, I am well equipped to take on a range of briefs in a variety of environments.

My experience has allowed me to gain insights into industry best practice, and has developed in me the ability to learn and work quickly, all the while being a stickler for detail.

Having worked within a wide selection of industries from events companies to the financial sector, both as part of a team and on my own, I am used to working with a broad range of personalities and working styles, and feel I am able to easily adapt in new settings.
